Town of Walkerville.

WALKERVILLE may be described as a model town, for there are certainly few communities of less than city dimensions which can boast of streets so well paved and lighted, such complete water service and fire protection, and so many excellent examples of architecture as are to be found here. The streets are lighted by electricity (incandescent system), which is also used in many of the houses. The town has the advantage of a direct ferry service with Detroit, and an electric railway connecting it with Windsor and Sandwich, as well equipped and run as any upon the continent.

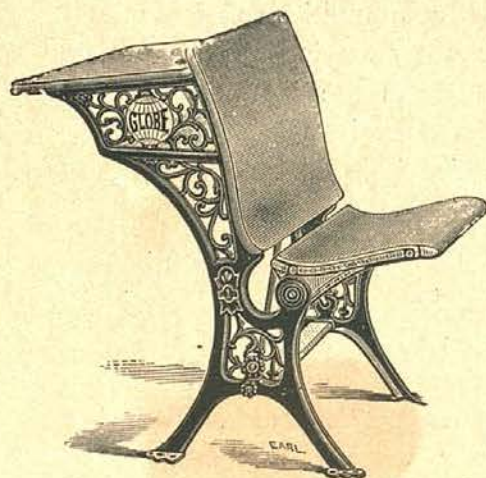

Among the many interests of the Messrs. Walker, other than the distillery, are the ferry above mentioned and extensive tobacco and hop farms. They are also owners of the Lake Erie and Detroit River railway, extending from Walkerville to Ridgetown, a distance of 84 miles, as well as lessees of the London and Port Stanley railway. In addition to these interests they have a lumber yard and planing mill, and some minor enterprises, and are the controlling shareholders in the Malleable Iron Company and the Globe Furniture Company. What this locality, and, indeed, the whole county of Essex, owes to this family it would be hard to estimate, and can only be even approximately understood by those who have watched the development of their own interests and the influence which they have had upon the community.

TESTIMONIAL

OF A

MICHIGAN

PHYSICIAN

MAYVILLE, MICH., Jan. 1, 1895.

My experience confirms all that is said in favor of the Monroe Improved Gold Cure treatment for the cure of alcoholism and opium. I used alcohol for ten years and morphine for twenty-five years. At the time I entered the Windsor Sanitarium for treatment I was using daily one quart of whisky and forty grains of morphine. This excessive use of stimulants had exhausted my physical strength to such an extent that my friends thought I could live but a few months longer. I can hardly convey a fair idea of my condition, but will say the Monroe treatment cured me of the use of both alcohol and morphine, and I am now—six months since my cure—as healthy and well as any man of my age (56 years), and am regularly attending to a large country practice of medicine, free from any desire or craving for the stimulants my system depended upon for so many years.

The treatment produced no depressing effect on my system whatever. I gained in flesh and strength from the beginning, and my natural appetite and sleep were restored.

I can, as a medical practitioner, recommend the Monroe treatment to all those suffering from the excessive use of alcohol or opium stimulants.
